

Business news in brief, Oct. 25

Logan native receives War College honors

McLEAN, Va. — Joann DiGennaro, President of the Center for Excellence in Education, received The Outstanding Civilian Service Medal from the Department of the Army.

She is one out of five civilian women to have received this recognition for her extraordinary service as an expert Consultant and Chairwoman of the U.S. Army War College Board of Visitors from 2005-2009.

That same day, DiGennaro received an Honorary Degree Master of Letters, Strategic Studies, Honoris Causa, the sixth female recipient of this recognition.

The Army War College commended DiGennaro for her selfless service to the U.S. Army, the Joint Professional Military Education and the nation.

DiGennaro is a former resident of Logansport, a graduate of St. Vincent de Paul School and of Logansport High School. She received her Bachelor of Arts from Purdue University. Her siblings, Thomas A. and Carol Pasquale, reside in Logansport.

Click here to read this article online.